

Friday 20th July Singer/songwriter Steve Tilston was in concert with us in the Village hall. The sell-out event followed on from his daughter's (Martha) concert with us in March 2018.

Accompanied by Hugh Bradley on double bass, and BBC Bristol's very own Keith Warmington on harmonica, Steve played a number of his excellent compositions and the acoustics in the hall once again showcased the quality of the artists to the fullest extent.

Steve played a number of songs from his 'Distant Days' album, re-working some of his songs from the early 1970's through to the present day.
