

15th November 2018 Neil Maya Quartet

The Neil Maya Quartet brought the music of Dave Brubeck and other jazz classics to the village hall on a Friday night – the hall was packed out for the fantastic music that flowed!

The quartet had a very relaxed and informal style with commentary in between the numbers to better explain the work of Dave Brubeck and his counterparts of the late 1950s to early 1960's. Neil and his quartet are based in Totnes and the event in Lamyatt drew in an audience from the village and wider afield. The musicianship on display was second to none and for the very familiar numbers, such as Take Five, the audience was captivated!
